PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Welcome to the meeting everyone. I would like to congratulate Barry Brown on reaching 86 years young recently, Happy Birthday Barry.

I would also like to thank Natalie for her offer to have an introduction to Floral Art workshop tonight. If tonight's offer does not have sufficient interest, then maybe we can consider one in the future.

We are fast approaching our show and we are still in need of volunteers. Please consider helping out.

Moving on to membership, if your membership has lapsed, a friendly reminder please put it in order tonight. If you are unfinancial and benching at our show you will need to be a financial member of another society and register as a member of that society. Hopefully we will have a successful show.

The position of Secretary of the Club will become vacant in the New Year. If this position is not filled we will not be able to function as a club. Please consider stepping up to the position or helping so that the position is less onerous and may be filled in a cooperative way.

There is no committee meeting in July, next committee meeting 29th August.

We have been requested by Bowls Club management to ensure the premises are left clean and tidy as found.

The next General Meeting is our Auction night so some plants and general goodies will be available for you to bid for. Our past President Michael Burns has offered to be the auctioneer.

Thank you all and safe travelling

Below is a note circulated widely as it might be useful to society newsletters by:

THE DEMISE OF Dendrochilum

Recently the Royal Botanic Gardens in Kew has transferred all species within the genus Dendrochilum to the genus Coelogyne. Kew is the international authority on species classifications and records these on its World Checklist of Vascular Plants. The Royal Horticultural Society (RHS) is the international authority on hybrids and it applies such changes to hybrids.

This has resulted from DNA studies which have impacted many genera.

One of the side effects of the change is that the genus Coelogyne is a feminine Latin word whereas Dendrochilum is masculine and some epithets have to change from masculine to feminine.

Consider Dendrochilum grandiflorum. ‘grandiflorum’ is the epithet, is masculine and has to change to move the plant in to Coelogyne.

When you relabel your Dendrochilums, I suggest the surest way of doing it is as follows:

In the case of Dendrochilum grandiflorum, go to the World Checklist of Vascular Plants, <https://wcvp.science.kew.org/> and type in ‘Coelogyne grand’ The site will then prompt you Coelogyne grandiflora.

You can do this for any Dendrochilum species. Generally the feminised epithet will have only the last letters changed.

Generally, epithets that end in ‘um’ become ‘a’ so cobbianum becomes cobbiana but

Dendrochilum convallariiforme becomes Coelogyne convallariiformis

Hazel Baker’s Books

In June, Hazel spoke about her early life and books she has written. She was a child during the Japanese occupation of Burma (now Myanmar) during the war. Her family had to be evacuated three times with few possessions to stay safe. She has chronicled her memories of this period in “Heaven Tempers the Wind”. “The Sides of Heaven” covers the next period of her life in Myanmar. She has written some other books that are available.
